

Acquired brain injury needs to be acknowledged at the national mental health policy level doi: 10.1177/0004867412452943

Aust N Z J Psychiatry March 2013 vol. 47 no. 3 212-216

Australian & New Zealand Journal of Psychiatry

March E, Salzberg M, Hopwood M.

St Vincent's Mental Health, Melbourne, Australia

<http://anp.sagepub.com/content/47/3/212.extract#>

In this paper, we highlight the absence of acquired brain injury (ABI) in national mental health policy framework, and argue for its inclusion into policy and service provision for improved mental health outcomes.